An Editor's Experience.

Major Sidney Herbert, a well-known journalist in agricultural circles, writes April 18th, 1889: "Some five years ago I wrote a letter stating that Swift's Specific had cured me of severe rheumatism. Since that time I have had no return of the rheumatic troubles, although frequently exposed to the influences that produced former attacks. Several of my friends had a similar experience, and are firm in their conviction that S. S. S. brought a permanent cure. The searching power of this medicine is shown in the fact that it developed a scrofulous taint that was conspicuous in my blood over thirty years ago, and has removed the last trace of it. I have also tested S. S. S. as a tonic after a severe attack of malarial fever, which kept me in bed for three months, and am convinced that its curative and strengthening properties insured my recovery from that illness, as I was in very low condition of health."

For Diseases of Horses

There is nothing that compares with Cole's Veterinary Carbolisolve. It cures Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Collar and Saddle Galls, Sores, Mange, Scratches, Thrush, Inflammations and all skin and hoof diseases quicker than any other remedy. It is the only preparation that will invariably renew the hair its original color. Edwin D. Bither, driver of Jay Eye See, says: "Having given Veterinary Carbolisolve a thorough trial, I can fully endorse it, and take pleasure in recommending it to all owners of horses as the best remedy that I ever saw for general stable use." Large cans $1.00; small cans 50 cents.

Weak Women.

The more sensitive nature of the female sex renders women much more susceptible than men to those numerous ills which spring from lack of harmony in the system. The nervous system gives way, sick headache is frequent, the appetite is lost, and other ailments peculiar to the sex cause great suffering. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for such cases, and has received the most gratifying praise for the relief it has afforded thousands of women whose very existence before taking it, was only misery. It strengthens the nerves, cures sick headache and indigestion, purifies and vitalizes the blood, and gives regular and healthy action to every organ in the body.

Mr. O. F. Woodward—Dear Sir: Send me 1 box of Kemp's Balsam, 50 cents size, and a few samples. I certainly know that Kemp's Balsam is the best selling cough cure. I have often other cough and lung remedies on my shelves, and Kemp's Balsam sells 10 to 1 best of all. Respectfully yours, F. F. Comp. Sold by all druggists at 50 cents and $1. Sample bottle free.

To the Medical Profession.

DEPARTMENT OF OHIO, CENSUS OFFICE.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1, '89.

The various medical associations and the medical profession will be glad to learn that Dr. John S. Billings, Surgeon U. S. Army, has consented to take charge of the Report on the Mortality and Vital Statistics of the United States as returned by the Eleventh Census.

As the United States has no system of registration of vital statistics, such as is relied upon by other civilized nations for the purpose of ascertaining the actual movement of population, our census affords the only opportunity of obtaining near an approximate estimate of the birth and death rates of much the larger part of the country, which is entirely unprovided with any satisfactory system of State and municipal registration.

In view of this, the Census Office, during the month of May this year, will issue to the medical profession throughout the country "Physician's Registers" for the purpose of obtaining more accurate returns of deaths than it is possible for the enumerators to make. It is earnestly hoped that physicians in every part of the country will co-operate with the Census Office in this important work. The record should be kept from June 1, 1889, to May 31, 1890. Nearly 26,000 of these registration books were filled up and returned to the office in 1880, and nearly all of them used for statistical purposes. It is to be hoped that double this number will be obtained for the Eleventh Census.

Physicians not receiving Registers can obtain them by sending their names and addresses to the Census Office, and, with the Register, an official envelope which requires no stamp will be provided for their return to Washington.

If all medical and surgical practitioners throughout the country will lend their aid, the mortality and vital statistics of the Eleventh Census will be more comprehensive and complete than they have ever been. Every physician should take a personal pride in having this report as full and accurate as it is possible to make it.

It is hereby promised that all information obtained through this source shall be held strictly confidential.

ROBERT P. PORTER,
Superintendent of Census.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that, too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Seybert & Co.'s drug store.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of two years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys or blood. An Amateur Astronomer.

From an illustrated paper in the June Century we quote the following: "The amateur astronomer became the happy possessor of the new instrument, which proved to be one of the finest the Clarks had ever made. But the problem still remained of having his telescope permanently mounted. In this—for he liked to do things as simply and cheaply as possible—he had recourse to mother wit. Procuring a large piece of timber he sunk it deep in the ground in the back yard of his little house on Vincennes Avenue, near Ellis Park, and about two blocks from Dearborn Observatory. Around this timber he built what his friends used laughingly to call a 'cheese-box,' on top of which he placed a dome that could be turned around easily at will. Most of the work he did with his own hands; and it was with this little telescope, thus rudely mounted, that the modest, quiet short-hand reporter made his first important discoveries of double stars—discoveries which a few years later attracted the attention and commanded the admiration of the leading scientific men of Europe."

"All this time he went on with his regular work, was at his place in court every day, working the usual business hours. In the evening he went into his 'cheese-box' and studied the heavens till daylight drove him to his bed. No wonder that when a visitor, perhaps from Europe, went in search of this sleepless, sharp-sighted astronomer to pay his respects and make a visit to his observatory he was told by the street that Mr. Burnham was a 'queer man, who lived nights in that cheese-box.' His neighbors generally knew but little about him, and did not know what to make of the odd-looking structure in his back yard; and younger people associated the star-gazer with vague ideas of necromancy, fortune-telling, and magical incantations."

"Budding Wisdom."

To-be had a passion for accuracy, and when she could not command the expression of an idea, would quickly make one. Thus she was overheard one day saying to a little platmate who had just put a sand-pie into the oven and instantly taken it out again, declaring it was done, "You can't do it so. It could not bake in just a now." And once when she was out riding with her parents, and for the first time saw a beautiful green hedge, she pointed toward it with her chubby finger and inquired, "Papa, in place of a fence, what?" She spent a summer in the country with a family that had three dogs in which she was very much interested. One day when one of the dogs was amusing itself by turning over and tossing up a box turtle, she ran into the kitchen and got a bore. This she threw to the dog, and as soon as he was engaged with that she snatched up the turtle and ran into the house. She explained that she knew the dog could not injure the turtle, but she should think it would "hurt the turtle's feelings to be tossed around in that way."

Her father used to say to her, as an inducement to good behavior, "If you are a good girl all this month, I will let you be so many years old your next birthday." This was a very solemn consideration, and always had an immediate effect, till one day she answered as a light suddenly burst upon her, "Why, Papa, you can't stop me from being four years old in January! You can't make me four years old, and you can't stop me!"—From "Little To-be," by Rossiter Johnson, in St. Nicholas for June.

Benson J. Lossing, the eminent historian, recently wrote as follows to a friend: "I am, I believe, in sound health of body, mind and morals. I am happy to say that I am an optimist. I see humanity progressing with marvelous strides toward a higher plane, and I believe in the preponderant goodness of human nature when properly developed. Our country! What a glorious heritage we enjoy and will leave to posterity!"

An American painter, living in Florence, has painted a big picture of Satan so "realistically" that when a lot of young people who went to see it began to dance the shaking of the canvas made the figure have such a semblance of of demonic laughter that the dancers would not continue until the picture was covered.

The latest electrical wonder is that if you run a needle into your foot you can have it drawn out by putting your leg near a dynamo. This says one of the electrical journals, happened to a man recently after surgeons had sought in vain after the missing domestic implement.

PERFECTION AT LAST!

Every farmer should examine this machine before purchasing, and see how little machinery used and yet how perfectly it does the work. Only one canvas and three rollers used; all other parts simplified and improved in proportion, and needs only to be seen to prove its superior advantages. This machine will be exhibited on the streets every Saturday. A full line of
